

As an individual consumer I strongly oppose any exemptions to Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. The law is working well and therefore should not be altered. In other words if you've got a good thing going don't mess it up.